

715

The image shows a detailed PCB layout for a component labeled '715'. The layout is symmetrical about a central horizontal axis. It features a central horizontal strip with a vertical connection on the left side. The layout includes multiple layers of traces, circular vias, and rectangular pads. The entire design is enclosed in a rectangular frame with corner mounting holes.